ROAD SAFETY DURING EID

After a month of fasting, during the holy month of Ramadhan, Muslims celebrate with Eid, which is a three day celebration. Families travel around Oman to visit family and friends or for other purposes such as picnics. Unfortunately many drivers resort to reckless driving which results in fatality. Drivers must be caution on the road and never use their mobile phones while driving, they should also allow enough braking distance between vehicles, monitor their speed and to remember to always keep their hands on the wheel and eyes on the road.

STAY SAFE DURING THE EID HOLIDAYS:

- Get enough rest before you drive and do not travel home straight after your shift ends.
- It is better to travel with others for accompany and may share the driving.
- Avoid driving in darkness as possible, if you get tired then take a break.
- Always fasten your seatbelt and ensure all passengers are doing.
- Don't allow kids on front seats.
- Never drive while using mobile phone.
- Never drive at excessive speed, it might be the last thing you do.
- Don't drive under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

While enjoying your very well deserved holiday, you must also remember there is someone at home waiting for you.
